Part I (Individual)

How different cultures view time

1. Watch the short YouTube video in step a below, and then read the article in step b.
      i. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=A3oIiH7BLmg
   b. How different cultures understand time

2. Submit your observations in one page or less to the hw3i dropbox in D2L, with your answer to the following question:
   a. What has been your experience with different cultures and their take on the importance of time?
      Please compare/contrast a first-world country with a developing country. If you have not been outside the US or Canada, compare/contrast two different ethnic or cultural groups that you have observed.

Part II (Team)

1. I created a team in D2L and gave it the temporary name of Avengers. Choose an alternative team name for yourselves if desired.

2. Individual assignments:
   a. Karla, Xander, Wes - Talk to the people in Peru to figure out their need and the scope of the project we could do for them. Be prepared to report back to the class on Tuesday.
   b. Will, Darius - Talk to the people in Haiti to figure out their need and the scope of the project we could do for them. Be prepared to report back to the class on Tuesday.
   c. Karisa, Stanley - Start researching grant proposals, and start making a timeline and plan for the quarter. Come to class with an idea of how to delegate roles for the quarter.

3. Someone (Karisa), compile a progress report by class time on Tuesday, April 17 and submit it to the hw3g dropbox in D2L.
